Stages description

Day 1: Individual arrival in Paimpol

Your journey starts in Paimpol, a lively fishing town with a rich maritime past. Wander through cobbled streets, explore the historic center, and enjoy the bustling port atmosphere – the perfect introduction to cycling on the Pink Coast of Brittany.

Day 2: Paimpol – Perros-Guirec (via La Vélomaritime), approx. 45 km

Follow the scenic La Vélomaritime route through peaceful villages and rolling countryside. Cross the picturesque Trieux and Jaudy estuaries before arriving at the charming seaside resort of Perros-Guirec, where the fresh sea breeze invites you to unwind.

Day 3: Pink Granite Coast excursion, approx. 45 km

Today you explore the heart of the journey: the famous Pink Granite Coast. Cycling on the Pink Coast of Brittany takes you past striking pink rock formations, the protected bird islands of the Sept-Îles, and the fairytale-like Costaérès Castle. This stage offers spectacular coastal views, unforgettable photo opportunities, and a true nature experience – a highlight for those seeking coastal scenery, culture, and authentic Breton charm.

Day 4: Perros-Guirec – Tréguier, approx. 45 km

Ride along the dramatic coastline, passing coves and headlands. Stop at the Plougrescant chasm, where the sea rushes between two cliffs. End the day in the medieval town of Tréguier, known for its Gothic cathedral and charming half-timbered houses – a perfect blend of nature and history.

Day 5: Tréguier – Paimpol, approx. 45 km

Today you ride back towards Paimpol. Along the way, you pass the Sillon du Talbert, a remarkable sand and pebble spit extending into the sea and sheltering the Bay of Paimpol. On this stage of cycling on the Pink Coast of Brittany, you'll enjoy varied coastal views, picturesque bays, and the unique atmosphere of the Breton coastline.

Day 6: Day trip to Bréhat island, approx. 15 km + ferry trip

A short ride brings you to Arcouest pier, then a ferry takes you to the car-free Île de Bréhat, the "Island of Flowers." Camellias, mimosas, and blooming agapanthus line the trails. Explore at your own pace, soak up the peaceful atmosphere, before you return to Paimpol.

Day 7: Individual departure

After breakfast you start your individual return journey home or extend your stay.
